

Three rank-attribution methods on AdSERP — click structure differs

Each panel reads click behavior under one of three rank-attribution flavors: absolute (h3 + ads pooled, legacy), organic (bbox-extracted organic results only, post-cascade primary), or organic_hybrid (organics + dd_top + native_ad in display order). The dd_top click-rate finding (17.1 % vs organic 14.6 %) appears in panel (a) at position 0 of the hybrid bars.